

Year 7 History

The Year 7 History curriculum is designed to give students an understanding of the world they live in by studying political, economic, religious and social changes between 1066 and 1603. This is developed further in Year 8 with students studying the changes in Britain and the world in the subsequent centuries.

The programme of study begins by developing key historical skills, such as source handling, by looking specifically at Richmond 100 years ago and using primary sources such as the census, photographs and a site investigation to engage the students in historical research as well as studying some local History.

After the first half-term, Year 7 students use the skills learnt in their study of British History from 1066, beginning with the events surrounding the Battle of Hastings. This is developed further in the Spring term by looking at the impact of the invasion and what life was like for people in medieval England. With Richmond being a medieval town, this is an excellent opportunity for students to investigate medieval life further and all students will have the opportunity to explore the castle and see first-hand the impact of the Norman conquest and the development of the medieval town.

In the Spring term, students will look at medieval monarchs and how they managed the power that they had. There will be specific focus on King John and his dealings with the Barons and the Magna Carta and also the Peasants' revolt. Students will also study the War of the Roses and Richard III and look at the mystery around the Princes in the Tower.

In the Summer term, students will deepen their knowledge further by looking specifically at the religious changes in Europe with the Reformation and its impact on Britain with the policies of Henry VIII and other Tudor monarchs. This is also explored on a local level with the dissolution of Easby Abbey and the burning of the Protestant Richard Snell being studied. This will give the students the building blocks to understand the changes in the following centuries which will be studied in Year 8.

Methods of deepening and securing knowledge:
Retrieval practice	Retrieval practice is evident through starter activities where students use prior learning to complete a low stakes quiz, complete a matching task or offer their opinion on a topic. An image or cartoon is often used to aid students' retrieval of information. Reflective plenaries often link to prior learning as well as to current learning.
Elaboration	Students are encouraged to elaborate by using strategies such as think pair share as well as explaining their reasoning for opinions. They verbally and in written form expand on their ideas and justify their opinions and these are often shared with the whole class.
Concrete examples	Concrete examples are used with assessment work or longer pieces of written work as students can see how to structure their ideas and include precise examples and explanation to improve their marks. Past projects, such as on the Suffragettes, are used to show the variety and quality of work that can be produced.
